Most Maryland households receive water and sewer service through a local government or a quasi-governmental entity. These companies are not regulated by the Maryland Public Service Commission. If you need assistance paying your Baltimore City water bill, there may be help available through city-sponsored programs.

1) Water4All

Water4All is a new water discount program for Baltimore City residents that has replaced the BH2O program. This new water assistance program provides a monthly discount for water and sewer costs based on a percentage of residents’ income. For the first time, tenants who do not directly pay their water bills are eligible to apply for water payment assistance.

The Water4All program uses a formula to calculate the maximum amount residents should pay for annual water and sewer services, based on a percentage of their annual household income. The maximum percentage could be 1 percent, 2 percent, or 3 percent, depending on income and household size. The difference between this calculated maximum amount and a resident’s estimated annual water and sewer bill amount would determine their annual discount.

Baltimore City residents whose name is on their water bill can apply for a payment plan through the Department of Public Works (DPW), 410-396-8963.

- Fifty (50%) of the balance owed with the remaining balance paid in 12 monthly installments

The applicant must not have breached a payment plan with the Department of Public Works or City Law Department in the last 12 months, and all residents must stay current on any bills incurred following the beginning of the payment agreement.

Once your payment arrangement is agreed upon, it will appear on your monthly bill. You will receive a payment arrangement confirmation letter sent to you within 10 business days after enrollment with a summary of the agreement.

3) Medical Exemption Program

The Baltimore City Department of Public Works offers an exemption program for residents with a documented medical condition or who are the primary caregiver of another property resident whose health or medical equipment would be irreparably harmed by water turn-off as determined by a licensed medical professional. Homeowners and tenants can apply each year if they meet the following criteria:

- Reside at the service address, provide proof of residency, and receive a water/sewer bill directly from the City
- Are able to provide a written certification, from a licensed medical professional, on official letterhead, stating that uninterrupted water service is necessary for a documented resident of the service address based on a medical condition

How do I apply?

An owner or tenant may file an application for a Medical Exemption on behalf of another individual residing at the service address, provided that proof of residency for the individual with the medical condition is submitted. The Medical Certification to Prevent Water Turn-Off application must be completely filled out.
